

LOOKING TO CONNECT WITH YOUR NEXT TALENT?

Royal Roads University's unique student body and non-traditional education model provide our community partners with avenues and opportunities to engage career-entry and experienced learners throughout the year.

HIRE A CO-OP STUDENT:

Business and tourism & hospitality students in undergraduate programs are looking for paid supervised co-op work terms of 3-4 month (min 420 hours); timelines are typical of a traditional semester system.

WORK WITH AN INTERNSHIP STUDENT:

Master-level students from business, social sciences, tourism & hospitality, and humanitarian studies are looking for paid supervised internship opportunities of 12-25 weeks (min 420 hours); timelines vary depending on the program.

HOST A FIELD PRACTICE STUDENT:

Students from environmental sciences, communications, and justice studies programs are looking for unpaid project-based soundbite professional opportunities in a mentored work environment of 75-100 hours; timelines vary depending on the program.

PARTNER IN A RESEARCH PROJECT:

Students across programs partner with industry and community on short-term unpaid research projects to gain experience advancing business and community goals. This includes consulting projects, design projects, and community-based research projects; timelines vary depending on the program.

There are many ways for industry to engage with RRU students. RRU's Career Learning and Development team is able to collaborate to meet the specific needs and objectives of your organization:

- Hire a student in a work-integrated learning capacity
- Post and promote a job on our exclusive job board
- Join an employer panel
- Exhibit at a career fair
- Participate in a mock interview clinic
