

How may your journey in the BEP program look like?

MEET CINDY.

Having completed years 1 and 2 of her undergraduate degree, Cindy was looking for a degree completion program to launch her career in the environmental field quickly, but she also needed to work and wanted to maintain her volunteer position at the British Columbia Environmental Network. Cindy chose the Bachelor of Science in Environmental Practice completion program because of the flexibility to choose her core and elective courses to align with her interests in science. The online delivery allowed Cindy to earn her degree in only 33 months while balancing her work and life. See how Cindy personalised her program:
